

Pavilions and Roadshows

Creative ideas give way to impressive brand presentations

"The Cube" by Electrolux, European Roadshow, Milan

When the experts at NUSSLI get to work, the end result is an innovative pavilion with maximum audience impact. All the while, we keep close track of factors such as construction time, costs, and sustainability. Thereby providing the optimum solution for your project.

NUSSLI

Modular structures and system components provide flexibility and maximum speed in assembly and disassembly. They enable structures to be reused multiple times, at different locations of your choosing. If the pavilion needs to be in one place today but somewhere completely different by tomorrow, we take care of the entire logistics chain. All the while, innovative materials produce spectacular effects and fulfill the highest architectural requirements. A pavilion can be designed in a myriad of different ways. As an interim structure, a provisional building, or a temporary extension, it is often the most effective solution.

Products and Services for your Brand Presentation

Whether the focus is on architecture, functionality, modularity, or mobility, we offer just the right type of pavilion for your needs.

Pavilions for Every Purpose and Use

Pavilion construction: big ideas implemented in spectacular structures. The service life of pavilions for exhibitions, roadshows, brand presentations and other temporary solutions are limited. Despite of that, or perhaps because of that, they offer almost limitless possibilities in terms of shape, materials, construction, facade architecture and interior design.

- Exhibition pavilions
- Sponsor pavilions
- Country pavilions for World Expos
- Event and promotion pavilions
- Pavilions for pop-up stores and shops
- Informational pavilions
- Provisional and interim solutions
- Temporary extensions and annexes
- Temporary building facades

Reference Projects

Whether it's for international brand presentations, roadshows, representative sponsor appearances, or for the next World Expo, we always rise to the challenge of spectacular architecture. When it comes to the high-quality, on-time implementation of your creative ideas, our expertise in numerous exceptional projects, around the world, really pays off.
